DELAYED A WEEK—

School to Start Here August 29

It is a strange world. The people of Hamlin struggle along here for years just hoping to keep our two doctors and doing everything possible to find others without success.

Then all of a sudden, from almost out of the blue, we have another doctor. And before we can even get him on the job we find ourselves with another one.

Last week we announced that Dr. Robert Stafford was moving his practice here from Nevada and this week we are announcing that Dr. N. R. Kulkarni is moving here from Lamesa.

As it turned out we were a little premature in announcing that Dr. Stafford would begin seeing patients last Friday. It seems in everyone's enthusiasm to get our new doctor on the job we had him arriving a little sooner than he planned.

But he is here now and started to work Tuesday. We will not have this problem with Dr. Kulkarni as he is already on the job.

Since we have a separate story elsewhere on Dr. Kulkarni, we will not go into detail here about him other than to say he is a native of India and his full name is Narayan Raghavendrarao Kulkarni. Knowing most West Texans we can say with certainty, that there will not be many around who can handle that name and feel sure that we will come up with something we can handle.

We join everyone in Hamlin and this area in welcoming both these men and their families to Hamlin. We are pleased that you have seen fit to put your faith in us and we hope that we do not disappoint you.

We have not expressed our thoughts about the recent blackout in New York City and the resulting looting and mob actions. And while we were trying to put our thoughts together about this view of mankind at its worst we ran across the following editorial by our friend Harold Hudson of The Perryton Herald. His thoughts are worth repeating here:

Civilization is a thin veneer and that is never more apparent than when a mob runs rampant in a great city.

New York City has survived many such mob scenes in its long history but the scene last week of wanton destruction and downright theft was enough to make most Americans wonder what is happening to our country.

The television cameras were there in time to cover the actual looting of stores in New York City

The opening of the Hamlin Schools for the fall term has been delayed one week, according to Bob Hawes, superintendent. The first day of school will be Monday, Aug. 29, rather than Monday, Aug. 22, he said.

The change was brought about by the new state law that now calls for 175 days of school rather than 180 days. This change was made during the special session of the legislature as part of the new school finance bill.

Teacher in-service training will start on Monday, Aug. 22, which is one week later than originally scheduled. The bill did not change the number of in-service days for teachers for the coming year, but does change the number for the following year. In the 1978-79 school year, there will be eight days of in-service training instead of the present 10 days.

Hawes said Monday that it was still too early to tell the full impact of the new school finance bill on the local district. He said that the board would begin to work on the budget for the coming year this week and has set a tentative date for a budget hearing for Monday, Aug. 15.

He said that the district's local fund assignment (its share of the cost for the Minimum Foundation Program) was cut from last year's $221,000 to $168,761 for the coming year. The district will also receive $110 per student this year rather than the $95 per student it received last year for maintenance and operation. This figure will increase to $115 next year.

The district will receive a 7.1 percent increase in transportation funds for the coming year and will receive an additional 5.2 percent the following year.

Under the new bill teachers also receive pay increases with teachers with BA degrees receiving an average increase of 7.2 percent and those with MA's receiving an average increase of 8.12 percent.

Hawes said that there were still some questionable areas in the new school bill that he was seeking answers to from the state. He said that until we know these answers it is still hard to determine the full impact on the district.

outs furnished by the state, the Hamlin district will receive $161,700 more additional dollars from the state this year than last year. But $58,400 of this is for the increase in teacher salaries, making a net gain of $103,300 for the district.

Other Jones County schools will receive the following increases under the new bill: Stamford, $157,100 — $89,700 net; Anson, $122,600 — $62,300 net; Hawley, $106,200 — $81,000 net; and Lueders-Avoca, $29,000 — $19,300 net. In Fisher County, the McCauley district will receive $5,600 for increased teacher salaries with no net gain over last year. Rotan will receive $101,000 increase — $62,500 net; and Roby will receive $86,000 increase — $62,800 net.

Fourth Doctor Joins Hamlin Medical Staff

Whether good or bad, luck seems to come in bunches and Hamlin appears to be enjoying a string of good luck has chosen Hamlin to establish his medical practice.

N. R. Kulkarni, M. D., a native of India, joined the local medical staff this week to bring the Hamlin Clinic staff to four. A fully qualified surgeon and general practitioner, Dr. Kulkarni joins doctors M. L. Smith, Joe Don Hymer and Robert Stafford in the local clinic.

Dr. Stafford announced last week that he was moving his practice here from Elko, Nev., and started seeing patients here Tuesday morning. Due to a misunderstanding of when he would arrive it was announced that he would start practice last Friday but he could not get here until Sunday.

Dr. Kulkarni, a graduate of the B. J. Medical College of Poona, India, began work here Monday. A native of Bangalore, India, he did his post graduate work in England where he had his own practice for 10 years before moving to this country.

In England he was board certified as a Fellow Royal College of Surgeons of England and as a member of Royal College of General Practitioners.

Dr. Kulkarni holds a permanent visa in this country and plans to get his citizenship papers here as soon as he fulfills the five-year residence requirements. He and his wife, Sulochana, have four children, three girls and a boy. The girls are Sucheta, 18; Suneeta, 16; and Archana, 14. The boy is Harekrishna Vishwajit, 10.

The family is currently staying in India until their permanent visa is approved, which is expected at any time.

Dr. Kulkarni came to this county last fall and studied and passed the required examinations to practice medicine in this country. After passing the board tests, he applied for visas for his family in January and then spent three months visiting with them in India before returning to this country to establish his practice.

He spent about a month in Lamesa before coming here this past week.

He said Monday that he wants to establish his practice in Texas and that Hamlin looked like it could be the place he is looking for. After practicing in England for 10 years, he said he wants to establish a practice where he can work for himself.

Green Thumb Program To Interview Monday

Texas Farmers Union Green Thumb, a job opportunity program for people 55 years of age and older, will interview possible applicants on Monday, Aug. 1, at 2 p.m. in the county judge's office. Residents of Jones County are eligible and must be 55 years of age or older, pass a general physical examination and meet limited income guidelines designated by the Department of Labor.

The purpose of the program, sponsored by Texas Farmers Union and funded through DOL, is to employ people to work in community betterment and conservation projects for non-profit organizations.

Currently Green Thumb projects operate in 36 counties throughout Texas. Green Thumbs are placed as individual workers who serve as school lunchroom aides, telephone reassurance callers, assistants in Title 7 nutrition programs, Senior Citizen Center hostesses, and in numerous other social service activities.

Most counties also have a Green Thumb crew which works throughout the county in improvement projects such as repairs for public schools, weatherization of homes belonging to rural elderly, public park improvements and other useful community projects working for both county and city governments. Green Thumb workers are paid minimum wage for a 20 to 24 hour work week.

For more information, contact Mrs. T. C. Gregory, 576-2218 or Betty Thompson, 823-2916. Green Thumb is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Bank to Make Switch Monday To Computer

The Farmers and Merchants National Bank will convert over to its new computerized bookkeeping system Monday, Aug. 1, according to Joe E. Ford, executive vice president.

This change in systems will require the elimination of counter checks, Ford said. All banking customers are urged to start using their personalized checks with their account numbers printed on them.

These personalized checks, with the account numbers printed in magnetic ink, permit the computerized system to automatically read and sort the bank's checks. This will speed up the bank's bookkeeping system and help eliminate errors, Ford said.

One Phone Number Now for Hospital

A change in the telephone service at Hamlin Memorial Hospital has been announced by Billie J. Speck, administrator. The hospital now has one switchboard number that will reach all departments. This number is 576-3646 and is listed in the directory as the Business Office number.

The number listed as the Nurses' Desk in the directory has been discontinued.

The number for the Hamlin Medical Clinic or doctors' office remains unchanged and is 576-3611.

The hospital number is answered on a 24-hour basis and is the only number for the hospital.

A pay phone remains in the lobby of the hospital for the convenience of patients and visitors but is not answered by hospital personnel.

Mrs. Speck cautions, "only hospital and clinic numbers should be called for hospital or doctor service."

Residents are urged to post the following phone numbers by the telephone for quick reference:

PREVENT FIRES BEFORE THEY START

IT'S UP TO YOU

Most people don't think about fire prevention until it's too late. Sure you keep an eye out for obvious hazards. Everybody does. No one would "let" their child play with matches, or throw a lit match into a waste paper basket. But what about hidden danger areas? And carelessness? Like putting a penny in a fuse box, or letting trash pile up. Fires can happen anytime... anywhere. That's why individual prevention programs are so vital to minimizing their cause.

Each of us can reduce the threat of fires... the tragic loss of lives and irreparable damage they incur... by being alert to the rules of fire safety and practicing them. It's up to you, you and YOU!

- In the home: Practice fire drills with your family. Keep a fire extinguisher in a handy place.
- On your property: Check electrical wiring. Watch for trash build-ups. Take care when disposing of chemical containers, aerosol cans.
- In the forest: Be extra careful when smoking and extinguishing cigarettes. Snuff out campfires completely. Don't litter.
- Everywhere: Obey fire laws and "no smoking" signs. When driving, keep clear of vehicles carrying highly flammable contents.

Summer Schedule Told for Kendrick Religious Pageant

Phil Kendrick, director of the famed Kendrick Religious Pageant, "The Life of Christ," was in Hamlin this week to discuss the summer productions now being held each Thursday and Friday night through mid August.

The Kendrick Amphitheater is on U. S. Highway 80 between Eastland and Cisco. Admission is $3 per person.

Kendrick said that the summer performance is some shorter than the annual Easter pageant because of daylight saving time. The production starts at 9 p.m. and lasts two hours. It portrays the entire life of Christ from birth through resurrection.

Animals used in the show are sheep for the shepherds in the field; the grey donkey for the Mother Mary; the white donkey for the triumphant entry of Jesus and the camel for the Wise men.

Kendrick said that reservations are suggested for large groups by calling (817) 629-2732 or by writing Life of Christ Pageant, Route 2, Box 46, Cisco, Texas 76437.

All seats are reserved but Kendrick said that no one should fail to see the performance when they are in the area just because they do not have advance reservations.

The Easter pageant began in 1965 on a stage erected at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kendrick. The first pageant was so successful that the Kendricks and their three sons, Bill, Pierre and Phil started building an amphitheater for the 1966 presentation.

Seating capacity is 100,000 and free parking accom-

A GUEST EDITORIAL

There are people in Washington who want to add more millions of dollars to the vast amounts of taxpayers' money already being spent on "consumerism."

Nearly 140,000 civil service employees are already working in eight major consumer service agencies. Thousands of others are being paid by the thousand or so other government-run, taxpayer-sponsored consumer-related programs.

Now, Congress is considering bills to set up a super consumer agency—tax financed—that would monitor and litigate with other offices of government in social and economic matters.

This is not fair to those government workers who are doing a good job now protecting consumers.

It's not fair to consumers, either. Because the new agency advocates the interests of one group of citizens, it must oppose the interests of other groups, and many people may find themselves in both camps. What's more, some consumers will want lower product prices, others more durability or some other factor. The agency would have to choose between competing consumer interests, protecting some consumers at the expense of others.

Primarily, however, the new agency seems unfair to taxpayers, who will be paying to have the government do the same job twice.

Taxpayers are consumers of government services. Perhaps we need some sort of watchdog agency to see what we're getting for our money in that market.

Teenagers should be urged to read more

By Drew Cassidy
International Reading Association

There is a growing awareness, nationwide, of the importance of reading. Parents and educators alike voice concerns about the fact that young people do not seem to read as much as they used to.

That this may or may not actually be the case does not allay the fears. Parents are unwilling to wait for the statistics to be compiled. They want to get their teenagers away from the TV and back to the books now!

According to Dr. Lou E. Burnmeister, Professor of Education and Coordinator of Reading Education at the University of Texas at El Paso, there are two kinds of students who don't read as much as we would like. There are those who can read but will not, and those who don't read because they read very poorly.

Parents who are concerned about their high school student's lack of interest in reading should first find out which kind of a student he or she is. Past school performance will probably be one indication.

If the student has a consistently poor performance record in classes such as English, science, math and social studies, it may mean that he or she needs help in developing the reading skills necessary to cope with the required texts.

School personnel should be able to determine if this is the case and inform the parents.

In most cases, the student's reading skills are adequate. There are more capable readers who don't read than there are poor readers.

Recent studies conducted by the National Assessment of Educational Progress reveal that 87 percent of all 17-year-olds surveyed are considered "functionally literate." That is, they can read well enough to cope in today's world.

"It is unfortunate that we often forget that many students of today read extremely well—way above grade level. This is a tribute to good teaching and concerned parents," says Dr. Burnmeister.

In either case, there are things that parents can do to help their teenagers read better or read more. Dr. T. Stevenson Hansell, Assistant Professor of Secondary Reading at the University of Delaware, suggests a few:

"Listen to your teenagers to find out what their interests are, then provide reading material on those topics. Teenagers are often interested in books which deal with making the transition to adulthood and asserting their independence.

"Books about popular figures such as sports personalities or rock stars are usually interesting to teenagers. Find books written about or adapted from popular movies or television shows.

"Go to the library. Ask the librarian's advice about the most popular books and then bring some home.

"Talk to your teenagers about books and articles you are reading. They will get the idea that reading is a source of information and pleasure.

"Make a habit of looking up answers or merely speculating about where to find answers to questions that come up in conversations.

"Encourage wide reading. Youngsters go through phases in which they are interested only in such material as magazines and comic books. Accept the fact that this is a stage in reading development which most people experience. After awhile, encourage more mature selections.

"Read Books And The Teen-Age Reader by G. Robert Carlsen for more ideas."

Take a look at the Hamlin Cafe, since it has been dolled up. For several weeks this eating place has been out of business, pending extensive overhauling. This means that the entire building is given over to cafe purposes. The front was removed and a new frame-work built in. The petition wall was removed, and all the walls and fixtures retouched with a bright new coat of paint and varnish. The floor has new linoleum cover and even the faces of Mr. and Mrs. Beacham and Mr. and Mrs. Howell are covered with a smile of restfulness and happiness. The renovations have given them a needed vacation and within a few more days they will be radiating their greetings to the public in their new quarters.

by hordes of blacks who were obviously having a good time.

Interviews with several of them showed that the looters had no remorse and saw nothing wrong with taking what they wanted from a store. One young black woman said she took a quantity of Pampers and other items from a drug store because she felt she was entitled to Pampers for her baby as much as any white mother was entitled to Pampers for her baby.

All of this misses the point if we are to live in a civilized nation and if our property and our lives are to be safe.

We have slipped rather rapidly in the past ten years into a rather callous disregard for law and order. During the anti-war demonstrations of the early 1960's it became fashionable to protest and demonstrate and disobey a law with which you do not agree.

Breaking the law has become commonplace. The demonstrators at Kent State broke the law, defying a court order and police orders until removed forcibly from a construction site. Instead of being praised for maintaining law and order, the police have been cursed and spit upon while onlookers cheered.

In New York City, millions of dollars were lost and hundreds of store owners lost all that they had accumulated simply because a mob wanted what they had and took it without paying for it.

Civil rights marches and demonstrations effectively protested against segregation laws which were undoubtedly wrong and unjust. In time these laws were changed and perhaps it took demonstrations to change them.

But there is a fine line to be drawn whenever a society disobeys the laws. Most laws have opposition and could be effectively demonstrated against. It has been suggested that Americans refuse to pay income taxes and thus change those laws. This could be done, but would it help us?

No matter how you slice it, what took place in New York City cannot be cloaked in any racial fight for justice. It boiled down to plain and simple theft and destruction of property and ought to call for drastic punishment.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

(July 25, 1957)

The folks who operate Hamlin Memorial Hospital are breathing a little freer today—because they have more room to expand their chests, since they have about completed their move into the spanking new $60,000 east wing addition to the institution.

While not every dot and tittle of work has been finished, the administrative staff and doctors moved their offices into the new section beginning over the weekend. Other moving operations are still underway and should be completed within a few days, says Louis Cunningham, business manager.

Fine progress is being made on the new $40,000 structure for McCaulley Public Schools, declared T. E. Green, superintendent, this week, as he predicted the building will be completed in time for the scheduled opening of the fall term on September 2.

The new project is comprised of three structures 96x20 feet that are connected with foyers. Two general classroom buildings will run east and west, being perpendicular to the administrative building that will also house the cafeteria. Four classrooms will be in each of the classroom units, and an additional classroom will be housed in the administrative section.

TEN YEARS AGO

(July 27, 1967)

In addition to receiving the State Star Chapter award at the State FFA Convention in Dallas last week, Gil Lain was one of 17 boys to receive a Santa Fe educational award. Kelley M. Fogg, executive representative of the Santa Fe, made the presentation. The education awards given at the convention totalled $3,125. The award is an expense paid trip to the National Convention in Kansas City, Mo., in October. The selection is based on leadership, FFA activities and supervised farming.

Four members of the Hamlin High School Student Council will leave early Sunday morning to attend a Leadership Training Workshop on the campus of the University of Houston.

The members are Gil Lain, Mike Young, Pat Perrin and Beth Craig, all juniors. They will be accompanied by the sponsor, Milburn Wink.

Five members of the Hamlin FFA Chapter attended the Texas Junior Hereford Association's field day Tuesday in Sweetwater. They were Leldon Clifton, Randy George, Gil Lain, Ronnie Nelson and Hollis Stephens.

T. C. Blankinship and Milburn Wink, vocational agriculture teachers, attended also.

Winners of the recent 21st anniversary celebration at Piggly Wiggly were announced by Edgar Duncan, owner.

Winners of the $25 cash prizes were Perry Sparks, Edith Butler, Ben Maberry and James Brown.

Hastings Texaco Station was hit again by thieves Thursday. Lee Hastings, owner, discovered the break in when he opened for business Thursday morning.

A THIRSTY LAND

Men have a thirst and a longing for goodness and righteousness. Even the most parched soul is touched by acts of kindness, forgiveness, and love. Jesus said, "Whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst; but the water that I shall give him shall be in him a well of water springing up into everlasting life."

May all who are thirsty for a oneness with man and with God find satisfaction and fulfillment by attending church

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Purchase Awards Set for Jones County Art Show

Several business concerns and individuals have followed the lead of the First National Bank of Anson in setting up purchase awards for the Jones County Art Show, it was announced by the fair's art committee this week.

Decisions to recognize and support art and artists of the county have been made by the F&M Bank of Hamlin and the J. F. Drilling Co. of Stamford. Mr. West is a member of the board of directors of the First National Bank of Stamford.

In announcing the commitments to participate in the art purchase program, a member of the county fair committee on art made the following comment:

"The committee is more than pleased that county institutions have seen fit to make purchase awards at the fair. It is estimated by the committee that there are some 150 adults and about 100 young people involved in painting alone in Jones County.

"The fair show is set up to recognize the effort of this group of persons who live, work and trade in Jones County. Purchase awards stimulates artists to produce quality work suitable to be housed on permanent display by purchasing institutions in addition to the monetary gain to the artist.

"The purchase awards are made soon after the show has been judged by the professional judge and all ribbons placed for the various categories.

"The standing committee foresees asking three other financial institutions to make purchase awards next year.

Computerized EKG Equipment Installed At Hamlin Hospital

It is now possible to have a heart diagnosis in the time it takes to make a phone call, thanks to a computerized electrocardiogram system now in operation at Hamlin Memorial Hospital, according to Mrs. Billie J. Speck, administrator.

In an effort to acquaint the public with this new service and to provide a public service to the area, Mrs. Speck said that for the next two weeks the hospital will run an EKG for a $2.00 service charge.

She said that anyone who is interested in an up to date heart tracing and report may have one made at the Hamlin Hospital laboratory for the $2.00 fee.

This service will be offered from 1 to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, July 28 through Aug. 10. A written prescription from a physician is required. A self addressed stamped envelope with the physician's address will also be needed.

Mrs. Speck said that this new system, known as the COMP-GRAM, works through a computer center in New York City. She said that the electrocardiogram, or EKG, reading is taken, the electrical impulses from the patient's body are transmitted by telephone to the CRO-Med Computer Center in New York City.

The computer makes its diagnosis and a summary is ready to be telephoned back to the hospital here within minutes. In non-emergency cases, Mrs. Speck said, the diagnosis is returned by teletype within two hours.

T. W. Flenniken was winner of the Texas Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo's Old-Time Calf Roping and received the John Selmon Memorial Saddle July 4.

Activities during the Jamboree will include: Merit Badge midway, Arts and Science Fair, national exhibits, aquatic programs, fishing, archery, marksmanship ranges, obstacle courses, orienting, baking and cooking contests, azimuth trails, environmental conservation and amateur radio stations.

The Jamboree will continue through Aug. 9 and then boys and their leaders will return home Wednesday, Aug. 10.
